THE GAZETTE.

MONDAY MARCH 22.

Fifty-one thousand men are on strike.
Morrison's tariff bill will be killed in the house.

Among all the New York eldersmen, two only could not be bribed.

If congress would go on a strike the people would throw up their hats with great rejoicing.

Says the Philadelphia Times, democratic, "Congress is doing its worst." A very good criticism on a democratic congress.

If the senate had no secret session and the president no private papers, the condition of things at Washington would be considerably improved.

The only thing that seems to be absolutely certain about the Oregon disaster is that the vessel went to the bottom of the sea and no lives were lost. But what made it sink is a perplexing question.

The consistency of the New York Evening Post is a good deal like the meekness of Satan. It condemns the senators for condoning Democrat as surveyor general of Utah, and calls him a worthless fellow; but the Post praises the president who made the appointment.

A paper down in Delaware asserts that the late Henry C. Courtney conceived the art of making parlor matches, and was the only man in the world who knew how to do it. We guess the Delaware paper is wrong. There seems to have been a good many matches made in parlors long before Mr. Courtney was heard of.

Mr. Shiro Akabane, secretary of the Japanese legation at Washington, was educated at Yale, but is now a strong protectionist. He is reported to have said that if the free trade professors of New England would travel and study the experience and conditions of other nations they would probably change their views.

Mr. J. W. Bookwalter, once a republican, and who ran for governor of Ohio, in 1881, on the democratic ticket and was defeated after spending $100,000 in the campaign, is now exhibiting at Springfield, Ohio, for the benefit of the public charities of that city, one of the most costly collections of Oriental curiosities and works of art ever got together in this country.

It is said that Lieutenant Greeley, the Arctic explorer, has been a constant sufferer from acute neuralgia since his return from the polar regions, and on Saturday, as a remedy, had the nerves at the base of the spine severed and the flesh and muscles separated, a severe surgical operation. If this does not avail he will be obliged to undergo a searing of the spine with a red hot iron, similar to the operation which Clara Morris underwent in Paris a few years ago.

THE DEMOCRATS ON BLAINE.
Some two weeks ago or more there was sent out from the democratic headquarters at Washington, a report that Mr. Blaine had now finished his literary work for the present, and for the next two years his energies and thoughts would be directed to the preliminary and perfect work of organizing his forces for another run for the presidency.

The report was also sent out that there would be a "quiet conference" of Mr. Blaine's friends in the senate and the house, that there would be a flurry in stalwart circles, that within a week from that time there would be a turning popular tide among a large class of republicans.

The house of representatives is very sensitive. The democrats elected as chaplain, the Rev. W. H. Milburn, the eloquent blind Methodist minister. He is a conscientious man, and the other day he opened the proceedings with a prayer that the members might be delivered from intemperance, from the "little red rose of lust," and all other carnal appetites. This was too personal, and he was afterwards requested not to meddle with such matters in his prayers.

Those who have heard John McCullough may regard as entirely too harsh the judgment of Edwin Booth. When asked to subscribe for the McCullough monument fund, he declined, and said: "There were other men, greater actors than he, who had no monument erected to their memory, notably, Edwin Forrest and my father. To erect a monument now to Mr. McCullough would be an insidious destruction." Notwithstanding the opinion of Mr. Booth, John McCullough was the greatest Othello and the finest Virginian this country has heard since the day when Forrest was in all his glory.

Speaking about the bill now before Congress to enlarge the white house, the Milwaukee Sentinel says:

There is a painful lack of republican simplicity in all this hauking for more room. From Mr. Watson's wild burrah over the restoration of the simple democracy to power, the country was led to expect the president would sit at table in his shirt sleeves and eat his meal with a knife—perhaps eat his meal in the kitchen, as a democratic governor of Wisconsin did.

Yes, Jeffersonian simplicity has made wonderful progress at the white house during the past year. The president started in in his shirt sleeves and with cold water. Now he can afford Prince Albert coat and seven kinds of wine.

Notwithstanding the export of gold, a report from Washington shows that the treasury gold fund continues to steadily increase. On January 1 the net gold in the treasury was $147,901,808. On February 1, owing to large disbursements on account of the interest, the gold was diminished to $136,082,610. During February a portion of this loss was recovered, the amount held on March 1 being $144,164,037, and the sum has been further increased since the first of the month, the amount now held being $148,455,621. This increase of $12,000,000 since February 1 is the more marked when it is considered since February 1 two calls for bonds, amounting to $20,000,000 have matured, and that a very large proportion of those bonds have been redeemed.

A dispatch from Madison to the Evening Wisconsin says that Professor Chamberlin, of Beloit college, has not yet been tendered the presidency of the State University. Some of the regents say, however, that a committee of the board is actively engaged in searching for some person to succeed President Bascom, and that Chamberlin, among others, has been talked of, but no formal tender has been made to any one, though several members of the board are very much in favor of Chamberlin. The board has indulged in considerable correspondence with various parties relative to the matter, but it has been wholly informal. In conversation with the regents the impression is clearly gained that the board will finally settle the question of the successorship at the June meeting, to take effect at the commencement of the next college year, despite Bascom's desire to continue another year.

It is claimed that according to the best available figures there were on the pay rolls of the Missouri Pacific system at the time of the strike 14,815 men. Of these, 3,717 struck. Their remain at work, 4,500 men in various branches of the service, but 2,085 have been suspended because of the enforced interruption of the business of the road. Thus some three thousand men not only are idle themselves, but have forced twice their own number into idleness against their will.

The number of men thus thrown out of employment by the strike is close to ten thousand. Their aggregate loss of wages is about $20,000 a day, so in the twelve days of the strike there has been a loss of close to a quarter of a million of dollars that ought to have been distributed among these men. This shows that Mr. Powderly, the president of the Knights of labor association, of the United States, was right when he said that it was too frequently the case that workmen struck without counting the cost.

Newspaper gossip at Washington says that the republican side of the senate represents the wealth of that body, and that it is much easier to pick out a millionaire among the republican senators than a poor man. Senators Sherman, Bowen, Cameron, Hale, Mahone, Miller of California, Palmer, Sawyer and Stanford are estimated to rank among the millionaires of the country, while Senators Allison, Dolph, Edmunds, Everts, Ingalls, Miller, of New York, Plumb, Spooner, Van Wyck and perhaps several others are classified as very rich. Senator Teller is enumerated among the millionaires by some who claim to have an insight into his earthly possessions, but he protests that he is poor. On the democratic side of the chamber there is but little wealth, and the millionaires are exceedingly scarce. Senator Fair is the only occupant of a seat on that side of the chamber whose riches run up to millions. Senator Brown is estimated by some to be worth possibly a million. But gossip fails to mention Standard Oil Payne, whose money, freely spent, amounts for him a seat in the senate.

Record Report! I go to the Palmetto house, with 100 rooms. I see thousands of visitors in the great building. Then comes the major master: "How can you tell how much you burn?" "Oh, very easily," he replies, "with two men." Then we go down into the cellar, and there, in a dark corner under the stairway, is a little gas motor with its trembling engine registering a hundredth part of an inch. That's record for you.

News papers, agnostics, universalists, etc., have a good deal to say about Jones' swing ideas about hell. [Laughter.] I am not enough to know whether they are in error.

In King of Prussia, Pa., that's the little station master, and when she died she rested peacefully upon its promises. I am foolish to believe every word in the title from Genesis to Revelations, and when I die I'll be fool enough to enjoy eternal happiness with God in company with the other fools who believed the same thing. [Unintelligible applause.] The trouble with Chicago is she's got away with the Bible. [Applause.] I'd argue rather than fight, but I'm not enough to know whether they are in error.

Farmers' Mills!

The mills have been fitted up in good order for all kinds of Custom Grinding.

The proprietors keep on hand and will deliver

Buckwheat Flour, Graham Flour,

Rye Flour, Corn Meal, Boled and Granulated.

Corn Oats, Ground Feed.

Baled Hay, Bran and Linseed Meal.

Of the Best Quality.

We desire to build up a home trade in Buckwheat Flour,

And we guarantee that all Buckwheat Flour sold from these mills shall be made from Pure Buckwheat, and shall contain no other ingredients.

Our Graham Flour

is made from thoroughly cleaned, Choice White Winter Wheat. Graham Flour takes its name from Sylvester Graham, the author of a noted treatise on "Bread and Bread Making." It is considered the best flour for the production of bread, because it is more healthful and nutritious than fine, white, bolted flour, for the reason that it contains more of the grain, from which the bran and germ are removed, than does the body it is built up and sustained.

The whitest and most beautiful bread found upon the market is made from American, containing less of the elements of

STRENGTH, HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Plus the dark colored rye bread, Germany or the heavy, long, round loaves, known as the "Household" bread. Graham bread made from good, clear wheat is very excellent and healthful food. We propose to make and sell this kind of flour.

Corn Meal.

as a staple article of diet in the Eastern and Southern States, and should be more generally used here. Is there a Yankee, the face of the streets of New York, who has not seen the streets of New England, that he has forgotten the baked bread and beans, the rye and the Indian corn? The corn meal, which is the chief article of which his heart and stomach were gladdened during the days of his boyhood, has taken its place in the diet of the people. The various baked Indian meal puddings with pork and beans, were main articles of diet for the sturdy mountain men of the West, and the old soldiers of the Union. We offer to the trade, and families, both the bolted and granulated Corn Meal.

Especial attention is called to our

Minnesota Linseed Meal

It is excellent for dairy stock, and horses when fed with other grain.

ORDERS FOR GOODS may be left at the store of E. Hill, Norcross Block, or at the mill. All lists given on the same day as received, as desired.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TRISTRAM SHANDY'S FATHER.

Tristram Shandy, in the humorous opening chapters of the book which bears his name and purpose to record his life and opinions, tells us that his father was at one time afflicted with sciatica, and that this affliction was indirectly the cause of events which had a most injurious and unhappy effect upon his own future life. There are men like those often do effect the career not only of the sufferer himself, but of those by whom he is surrounded, and perhaps Tristram's subsequent misfortunes, even more than he knew, might all be traced to that sciatica from which his father, "Trister" merchant—one of the most regular men in everything he did,
whether it was matter of business or matter of amusement, that ever lived"—suffered. In December, January and February Sciatica and other diseases must be held responsible for a good deal that goes wrong in the present day also, and even an attack of indigestion so augustin a person as a President of King may lead to events that may affect the destinies of nations.

An attack of sciatica, however, from which Mr. T. E. Chatfield, a contractor and builder of Milwaukee, Wis., has recently suffered, painful as it was, has been attended with at least one good result, for which Mr. Chatfield is thankful, and that is it has shown him that there is a cure for the disease. Mr. Chatfield lives at No. 365 Eleventh avenue, and is well known in Milwaukee. To one who called upon him in reference to his case he told this story:

"Yes; I was afflicted terribly. I took some Athiophores, and the disease was I wish I had a hope. I then found out a new thing with me by my means.
I had the sciatica for many years and tried many kinds of medicine without any relief.
Of course, there would be times when I would suffer worse than at others, especially in damp and stormy weather.
Last fall I had a very severe attack, probably the worst I ever had.

I was so badly crippled that I could not walk and I could not get any sleep, except when the doctor would inject morphine. Then I would be able to do a little while. I read about Athiophores in the paper, and decided to try it in my case. I was taking about two drams a day when the pain left me. If it is some magic power and in a few days I was entirely well and went about my work."

"Did you have any return of the disease?"
"Yes; I have no such experience as this with Athiophores; I am using them now, and they are giving me great relief.

giving me great relief.

Mrs. FRANK T. JACKOW.

The sad news reached this city this morning, from Dr. L. J. Barrows, at Milwaukee, that his son Frank's wife died yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Barrows had been dangerously ill for some days, and Dr. and Mrs. Barrows were called to Milwaukee last week, in answer to a message stating that her condition was alarming. In his sad bereavement the husband will have the deep sympathy of his many friends in this city.

MISS DE LONG at Rockford.

A correspondent at Rockford sends us the following, under date of March 20th: "Last night the First Congregational church was filled by upward of 1,000 people to greet the gifted orator, Miss Lillian Quilde DeLong. She is unquestionably the finest reader that has ever appeared in this city—rivaling Dailey, Couturier or Cummins. The audience were particularly charmed with her unaffected stage presence. She was last evening applauded to the echo and enthusiastically encored after every number. Mr. Frank D. Emerson, the favorite basso and the Congregational church choir appeared in the vocal numbers. The whole entertainment was of a high order and Miss DeLong easily established herself as a Rockford favorite."

MISS DE LONG at Rockford.

The Rev. W. F. Brown was unable to preach yesterday, and there were no services at the Presbyterian church either morning or evening. The Rev. M. G. Dodge, D. D., was also somewhat indisposed, and morning services only were held at the Baptist church.

OBITUARY.

MRS. CATHERINE SCOFIELD.

Again we are called upon to chronicle the death of another old and respected pioneer of Rock county, as one by one they are called home to their reward in heaven. Yesterday (Sunday) morning, at seven o'clock, Mrs. Catherine Scofield, wife of Mr. Theodore Scofield, residing at the corner of North River street and Mineral Point avenue, was claimed by the death messenger, and she quietly passed to her reward, aged 64 years. Deceased had been a patient sufferer for over a year, and although her death was not unexpected, it was a severe blow to the afflicted family.
